EVERY WEEK BY
LOUIS LANDRAM, Publisher.
LANCASTER, KENTUCKY.

TERMS: ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE, $1.00
SIX MONTHS, .50
THREE MONTHS, .25

THURSDAY, January 11, 1900

The Kentucky Legislature is now in full swing at Frankfort. Nothing but politics has been brought up, and the chances are that no business of benefit to the people will be touched at all. The taxpayers will simply have to foot the bills while the members consume the time in drawing salaries and working wires to benefit a lot of political crib feeders. The people have lost all interest in the proceedings, save those who have nothing else to do but sit on their pants and read "pollertix", and if the expense of the luxury could be cut off, working people would not care a continental if the gang stayed there and legislated itself into kingdom come, or some other seaport.

We heard some one say "It's a wise father that knows how to spell the give-a name of his daughter." The one making the remark had evidently noticed the many fool ways girls now-a-days butcher their names, and how extremely disgusting it is. A young lady, living not a thousand miles from Lancaster, quit speaking to the editor of this paper because we spelled her name plain M-a-r-y instead of "May-rle," which fact the more firmly convinced us that all the fools are not dead, and that many of them are of the feminine gender.

The proposed bill in the present Congress to reduce postage on parcels will, if passed, work great hardship on the country merchants. The New York Commercial is waging war on it, and suggests that the country merchants write their representatives urging them to vote against its passage. The bill is backed by the large city department stores, and if it becomes a law, it means that they can send out their stuff to the country buyers at much less than the merchant can put them in his store for. This is a serious matter for our merchants and they should not be caught napping.

SENATOR HARRELL created a stir in the legislature by announcing that John Whallen, the Louisville heeler, had offered him five thousand dollars to fly de coop and not support Goebel. Now Whallen comes back and says he gave Harrell the money before he became a member of the legislature, and did so because Harrell said he didn't want to support Goebel and accepted money from his side, or some such pretext. If you believe Harrell's story cuss Whallen, or if you believe Whallen, cuss Harrell, but if you, like us, don't believe any of them, why cuss the whole shooting match.

As a result of conference between the President, Secretary Long and the Captains of the Santiago fleet, no action will be taken contemplating the advancement of either Sampson or Schley. These two ducks, by their fight for notoriety, have rent their trousers, and the people have about grown tired of them. Every "big" man in the recent war has overstepped the bounds of property in his mad rush for honors, and the line and file are about the only ones left to whom the people feel grateful for licking Spain.

Down at Louisville the other day, some one delivered a lecture on "What a Young Man Ought to Know." This was doubtless a good subject, but had he taken as his theme "What a Young Man Thinks he Knows," or "What he Don't Know," the lecturer would have been lumbering away on judgment day, with his remarks not half completed.

A LEXINGTON dispatch says Editor Moore, of the famous Blue Grass Blade, has received a letter from a western banker telling him that he will leave the Blade $5,000 in his will. Mr. Moore says he will distribute 50,000 copies of the paper when he gets the money.

Representative Gaines, of Tennessee has introduced a bill, which he believes, if passed, would prove a veritable trustsmasher. It simply provides that the use of the mails on the part of trusts and combines be prohibited in the same manner that the mails are now refused to lotteries.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Mashias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All though she must soon die from Pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of Consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1. Trial bottle free at R. E. McRoberts drug store.

Representative Hopkins, of the Ways and Means Committee, says that no changes in the war tax will be made at this session of Congress.

The placing of a $5,000 mortgage on its buildings will force the whisky trust to insure the property. Heretofore it has carried its own risks.

Explanation Demanded.

Your article on "Blind Tigers and Dudes," published in the last issue of THE RECORD, has attracted much comment and the very accurate description of the dudes, together with the working of the Tigers and Tigeresses reveals the fact that you justly merit the name you wear.

I note the dangers to which the dudes are subjected and your suggestion to remove them, if the tigers cannot be caged. But you say, "Let's get together and cage these tigers &c." Now, seriously, come out and tell us how to do that and a vote of thanks will be tendered you, Dear Mr. "Crow Eye". We will teach our children to honor you while living, to spread sweet flowers over your grave and to revere your real name. Sam Jones said that Lancaster needs just one man, to put down the tigers. Perhaps you are the man. Awaiting your reply and hoping to hear how we can redeem the rising generation, by putting them on the highway where virtue and intelligence control their acts, and hoping to hear how our beloved dudes are to become a part of the household furniture again, I am, truly yours,
WEB FOOT.

Company Dinners are Dreaded.

Writing on "Making Company of Guests," Edward Bok, in the December Ladies Home Journal, considers "it a curious fact that American housewives are so loath to believe that a dinner with fuss and feathers is dreaded by the vast majority of people. The highest compliment we can possibly show a guest at dinner is to let him partake of an ordinary meal; to let him come quietly in and be one of the family; yet this is the very compliment which we withhold from him. Instead of giving a guest what he would relish most, we give him what he really enjoys least. Let a hostess be ever so graceful and tactful, let there be years of experience on her shoulders, yet nothing can conceal from her guests that the dinner which she is serving is other than an unusual one. It is a formal affair, and no amount of grace can make anything else of it. For nothing speaks so loudly nor so unerringly as a formal company dinner. Every course shows it; every movement of the waitress proclaims it; every piece of china fairly cries out the occasion. And of course no one at the table really enjoys it. The guest certainly does not, because he knows he is being made company of, and that feeling is always enough to offset every enjoyment. The hostess does not, for she hasn't the time. Her eyes are for the table and her servants not for her guest."
